

GOOSENECK VINEYARDS®

Liana and Paul are cousins who decided that doing what they love and loving what they do is essential to their being. Every chance they could, they spoiled themselves with great meals, drinking terroir driven wines on the shores of New England with family and friends. An ambition to enhance the cadence of those moments by creating Goose Neck Vineyards was a natural evolution.

They left behind their corporate way of life to produce their own version of the American Dream. Built on the foundation of authenticity, quality, and passion, they seek out the best grape growing regions in the world to bring their favorite varietals into your glass. This is always done with grace and style, wrapped in the fabric of our New England culture, and is guaranteed to enhance life's every day moments.

Working hard to make it look easy, they continually seek out ways to deliver wines that over-deliver, yet are always true to the grape variety. Touched by terroir and endowed by history, they are proud to put their wines on your table tops and into your glasses.

Cheers!
